Resource Laboratories Celebrates 10th Anniversary
Local Business Has Nearly Tripled in Size Since 2000

PORTSMOUTH, NH, 10/21/2010- On November 17, 2010, Resource Laboratories of Portsmouth, NH is celebrating 10 years in business under the ownership of husband and wife environmental specialists Susan and Guy Sylvester. When the Sylvesters purchased the business in 2000, the company had 6 employees and annual revenues of $660,000. Today the business has 17 employees and estimated revenue for 2010 could top $2 million.

Founded in 1993, Resource Laboratories is a locally owned, nationally certified environmental services company, providing a wide array of services to clients throughout New England. Resource Laboratories helps residential, industrial, commercial, municipal, state and federal clients who have issues related to soil, water, and indoor air contamination. Common contaminants include Mold, Lead, Asbestos, Radon, Arsenic and Pesticides, as well as many other environmental hazards. Services include site investigations, professional assessments and sampling, state of the art laboratory services, indoor air quality services, and complete environmental project management. Clients of Resource Laboratories have included the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the US Department of Agriculture, the White Mountain National Forest, and a U.S. Navy agency.

The success of Resource Laboratories is evidence that the environmental testing industry continues to grow, albeit at a slow pace, despite the current economic climate. Government regulations, corporate responsibility, fear of litigation, public awareness and the overall “green” movement are all working together to insure that we have cleaner water, cleaner air, and a cleaner planet for future generations.
